IMPLEMENTING CLIENT PREVIEW VIEWERS (LEGACY) - May 7th, 2011

As of Version 2.07, a "preview" function is built in to the program that allows an author to see how their live page will look before it goes "live".

For those of you who for some reason are using an earlier version of CMS Builder, Dave Edis from Interactive Tools had an interesting and simple workaround.

He suggested adding a "hidden" check box to the editor, and hide the record from the "real" page until you're satisfied with the contents.

To see a "preview" of the contents, make a copy of your detail viewer and use this option in the record call in the head section which will ignore the "hidden" flag and show records even if they are hidden:

'ignoreHidden' => true, // don't hide records with hidden flag set

'where' => " hidden = '1' ",
